Open call for tender ECHA/2011/123 – Willingness to pay (WTP) to avoid selected adverse human health outcomes due to exposure to chemicals

CLARIFICATIONS 2

Question:

Based on the technical specifications ECHA seems to be interested in values that are representative of the EU general population. Do you have any expectations with regards workers and occupational risk? Would you appreciate a separate analysis to be representative of this population group?

Reply:

As stated in the technical specifications ECHA is interested in values that are representative of the EU general population as the main outcome of the survey. Thus, ECHA is not looking for a separate analysis which would be representative for the workers or occupational risks.
