

ECHA/TRN/2023/007 – Registry of the Board of Appeal – RBoA Unit

We have an opening for a trainee in the Registry of the Board of Appeal ('BoA').

The Registry assists the BoA in the exercise of the latter's duties. They include deciding on appeals against certain decisions taken by the European Chemicals Agency. Registry's team also includes legal and scientific advisors who, among others, assist and provide support to the BoA during appeal proceedings. The Registry may be called to support the BoA when examining an appeal case, when preparing for an oral hearing and when drafting decisions in the appeal cases.

Trainee Assignment

Trainee will assist the Registry in the tasks that include:

- Collating technical and scientific information found in BoA's decisions or case-law of the EU Courts;
- Contributing to the analysis of technical and scientific aspects in appeal cases;
- Contributing to the development of BoA and its Registry's knowledgebase related to the technical and scientific aspects dealt with by the BoA in its decisions.

Trainee Profile

- Completed university degree in chemistry, biochemistry (or a related discipline) or environmental sciences; or completed degree in toxicology;
- Good overview of the Agency's regulatory landscape;
- Expert user of MS Office tools;
- Good communication and interpersonal skills;
- Aptitude for teamwork as well as cooperative and service-oriented aptitude;
- Excellent organisational skills;
- A very good command of English (as this is the working language within the Agency), both oral and written skills.
